About the Project

Our objective is to provide women with a toolkit of practices for sustainability and resilience so they will be ready to take on management and senior roles in the textile sector.

Who will benefit from this project?

- everyone interested in the textile industry willing to upgrade their managerial skills;
- women willing to occupy senior positions in the textile industry;
- women with migrant and/or refugee backgrounds, especially newcomers fleeing from the war in Ukraine, willing to work in the textile industry on senior positions or thinking about opening a textile company.

Our Activities

Be a Manager Platform

This platform will provide a hands-on training program with an emphasis on managerial skills applicable to the textile industry.

Women Think Green

This platform will provide accessible green practices that serve as catalysts for the development of a resilient and sustainable textile ecosystem.

Ideathons

Ideathons are events that bring together individuals from different backgrounds, skills and interests to generate innovative ideas and solutions. Ours will be aimed at empowering women to pursue success and developing their business talents.
